Gold prices can rise up to 15% by Dec-end: WGC

New Delhi, 16 July

Gold prices can rise up to 15 per cent from the current level in a bull-case scenario, reaching $3,839 an ounce level by the end of 2025, translating into an annual return of 40 per cent, suggests a recent note by the World Gold Council (WGC).

"Should economic and financial conditions deteriorate, stagflationary exacerbating pressures and geoeconomic tensions, safe-haven demand could significantly increase, pushing gold 10-15 per cent higher from here," the WGC said.

In its base-case scenario, the WGC expects gold to remain range-bound in the second half of calendar year 2025 (H2CY25), closing roughly 0-5 per cent higher than current levels, equivalent to a 25-30 per cent annual return. It believes H2CY25 will keep investors on the edge on account of geoeconomic uncertainty. While US inflation data have shown signs of improvement, concerns remain that conditions could deteriorate quickly.

Dollar-related pressures are likely to persist, and questions around the end of US exceptionalism may dominate investor discussions. Overall, these conditions position gold as a net beneficiary, but while the fundamentals remain strong, the gold price has already captured part of these dynamics. In turn, sustainable conflict resolution and continued rising stock prices could lure more risk-on flows and limit gold's appeal," WGC said. In its bear-case scenario, WGC anticipates gold prices to dip 12 per cent-17 per cent in H2CY25, finishing the calendar vear with positive but low double-digit (or even single-digit) return. "Gold market technical analysis and speculative positioning suggest that $3,000 per ounce would be a natural support level, prompting opportunistic investment

Sebi proposes linking gold, silver ETFs to domestic spot prices

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has proposed a new methodology for valuation of physical gold and silver held by exchange-traded funds (ETFs) to bring uniformity across schemes. The proposal is to value gold and silver, according to the spot prices determined by the domestic exchanges rather than the current practice of deriving the valuation from London Bullion Market Association (LBMA) price.

While the current valuation method starts with the LBMA pricing, the final valuation is ultimately brought in line with the domestic spot prices. The difference in valuation, according to Sebi, arises due to use of different sources of domestic benchmarks and varying frequency of pricing alignment.

"In the absence of any regulatory direction, AMCs use their discretion to apply premium/discount resulting in ugh these levels, disinvestment may accelerate," the note said.

Gold prices have risen 26 per cent in US dollar terms in the first half of 2025 (H1CY25), reaching double-digit returns across curbuying. If gold were to break thro-rencies. A combination of a weaker More on business-standard.com differences in valuation of gold/silver. For e.g. different asset management companies (AMCs) apply premium/discount at different frequencies i.e. on daily basis/ alternate days' basis/ monthly basis etc. This leads to differential valuation of gold/silver," Sebi said in a consultation paper.

Premium and discount is the difference between LBMA and domestic prices. The variation of valuation process leads to variance in the performance of ETFs of different AMCs.

Sebi said that a shift to the domestic spot prices, as published by domestic commodity exchanges, will eliminate the need for 'subjective adjustments'.

"This change may aid in doing away with subjective adjustment of the premium/ discount, as these spot prices are polled from the domestic participants and are reflective of the domestic demand and supply," Sebi said.

US dollar, range-bound rates, and a highly uncertain geoeconomic environment has resulted in strong investment demand for the yellow metal, analysts said.

Short-, medium-duration funds should constitute bulk of your portfolio

SARBAIEET K SEN

Investors are increasingly favouring accrual-oriented debt funds like money market and shortduration funds over interest ratesensitive categories, according to data from the Association of Mutual Funds in India (Amfi).

In June 2025, long duration (₹445.9 crore), medium to long duration (₹65.8 crore), mediumduration (₹61 crore), gilt (₹957.3 crore), and gilt with 10-year constant duration (₹141.8 crore) funds recorded net outflows. In contrast, short-duration funds and money market funds (MMFs) attracted strong inflows of ₹10,276 crore and ₹9,484 crore, respectively.

"Duration funds have seen net outflows as there is limited room for yields on the longer end to move lower from here. MMFs, on the other hand, have seen inflows on the back of surplus liquidity in the system," says Jalpan Shah, head of fixed income, TRUST

Mutual Fund.

India's 10-vear benchmark bond yield, which fell to 6.13 per cent on June 6, closed at 6.31 per cent on July 15. "Given that RBI rate cuts and the consequent rally in bonds is almost over, it makes sense for investors to prefer MMFs and short duration funds over interest rate-sensitive bond funds," says Joydeep Sen, corporate trainer (debt) and author.

Align fund duration with

Experts advise aligning investment horizons with scheme duration. "Match the investment horizon with the portfolio maturity of the fund and do laddering. Corporate bond funds are suitable for a three-year horizon. Target maturity funds are a good option for laddering. Debt-plusarbitrage fund-of-funds (FoFs) are gaining popularity for their tax efficiency," says Sen.

Blend categories prudently

A diversified approach is recommended. "Maintain a balanced approach with a preference for short to medium duration funds. MMFs, ultra-short, and shortduration funds are well-placed to capture stable accrual income while minimising mark-tomarket volatility. Investors with a longer investment horizon and higher risk appetite may also consider a mix of 8-10-year Gsecs and short to medium corporate bonds, but with the understanding that the bulk of the rally has already occurred," says Devang Shah.

"Accrual strategy through investments in high-quality funds should be the preferred investor choice in the current environment, Categories like short duration funds, corporate bond funds, and banking and PSU funds offer the accrual strategy," says Jalpan Shah.

Buying a second-hand car? Know why insurance transfer is crucial for buyers

When you purchase a secondhand car, transferring ownership on the Registration Certificate (RC) is a crucial step. Equally critical is transferring the car's insurance policy to your name.

Experts warn that failing to do so can lead to claim rejections, penalties, and even legal trouble.

Read full report here: mybs.in/2eoYhYX

Why insurance transfer is vital? The law allows a 14-day window for completing this process. Beyond that, any claim made can be rejected outright.

What happens if you don't transferinsurance?

If you drive without transferring the insurance, you could face serious issues. "While the third-party liability cover automatically continues under Section 157 of the Motor Vehicles Act, own-damage coverage does not," says Surender Tonk, vice-president, Insurance Brokers Association of India.

Can you modify insurance? Once the policy is in your name, you are free to upgrade

"As a buyer, you do not have to stick with the previous owner's insurance terms. You can and should upgrade to a comprehensive cover or even switch insurers entirely," says Saurabh Vijayvergia, founder & chief executive officer of CoverSure.
